DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed August 20, 2004 has been placed in the application file and the information referred to therein has been considered as to the merits.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-23 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-23 of U.S. Patent No. 6,775,783.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because step of generating a random secret value is not patentably distinct from generating a secret value.

Claims 1-23 of patent 6,775,783 contains every element of claims 1-23 of the instant application and thus anticipate the claims of the instant application. Claims 1-23 of the instant application therefore are not patently distinct from the earlier patent claims and as such are unpatentable over obvious-type double patenting. A later application claim is not patentably distinct from an earlier claim if the later claim is anticipated by the earlier claim.

Claims 24-52 are rejected on the grounds of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-14 of U.S. Patent No. 6,775,783 in view of U.S. patent 6,189,098 granted to Kaliski, Jr. Claims 1-14 of U.S. Patent No. 6,775,783 disclose method steps for providing client security for networked services. As to claims 24-37, the patented claims do not specifically claim the use of a processor and a network interface between the networked devices in order to carry out the method steps. However, Kaliski teaches a client/server network system where a smart card (apparatus) is used at the client to cause a security service to be performed through the messages sent to a server (see Kaliski, column 3, lines 46-54; column 4, lines 16-24 and column 4, lines 39-55). Similarly, claims 38-52, which are apparatus claims invoking 112 6th (i.e. "means for" language) are not specifically stated in the patented claims. However, Kaliski teaches a client/server network system where an apparatus performs client security services (see Kaliski, column 3, lines 46-54; column 4, lines 16-24; column 4, lines 39-55 and column 4, line 56 to column 5, line 11).
